

A Success Story

Located in the heartland of the country, a successful community based utility has again brought the The Back Saver System on site for their employees to be further trained.

The safety management reports no ergonomic related compensation claims related to back or neck injuries or pain since the introduction of The Back Saver System as part of their annual employee training. At least 2 employees, who were scheduled for surgical intervention prior to the utilization of the techniques of The Back Saver System, now report that were able to forego surgery and have remained pain free for over a year. This has objectively saved hundreds of thousands of dollars in employee healthcare expenses, employee lost time expenses, reduced productivity expenses and the enormous human-suffering costs associated with back and neck area injuries/pain. Many employees directly report independently using the unique techniques of The Back Saver System to remain pain-free, with their own efforts. That's employee empowerment ...which is the heart and soul of The Back Saver System !
